Why Hospitals Buy Imaging Centers

By C. Elliott Jeter, CFA, CPA/ABV, and Todd Sorensen

In hospitals, the belief is that freestanding imaging centers, volume for hospitals purchasing all or part of the ownership interest in freestanding imaging centers has increased non-stop for years. The expansion of freestanding imaging centers has outpaced growth in hospital imaging. As the industry has grown, hospitals have recognized that there are advantages associated with the ability to increase market share and intelligence; (or even entirely) offset by additional operating and capital costs. The strategic benefit for acquiring freestanding imaging centers, this benefit might be partially
